How To Make An Invincible Code
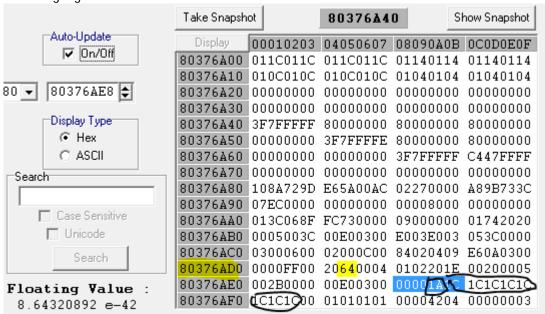

By GMO codemasters-project.net

Invincible Code AKA Damage Collision Countdown Modifier

It's not an ordinary health code, but again it's also not a health code either.
The way it works as a health code is when you get hit or damaged you begin to flash for a brief period of time. That flash is Temporary Invisibility and it has a cool down/ countdown It allows you to run through enemies and not get hurt. It's usually a couple seconds and is easily found by looking for a countdown. This is what we are going to modify. It works as a 2 In 1 code.
Come on now! You get Infinite Health and you get to run through enemies! We cannot start without some grunt work, but luckily for you I've made this type of code before on multiple occasions, mainly to help people do speed runs or make walkthroughs. The quickest way to find this code is to first find your health code. After you find your health code go into the Memory Viewer, watch and observe the values changing around the health code. In-game, try to take some damage and look for a countdown. It's that simple. It may be a little time consuming but it's totally worth it.

Here are some examples from games I have done recently

Here is NES Mega Man (FCTE)
I have highlighted the Invincible Code and circled all the Common codes

80376AEA is Mega Man's Health Bars
80376AEB-80376AF2 are the address for Ammo
80376AD5 is Temporary Invincibility Countdown
